PUBLIC HEARING - SUBMISSION OF CDBG GRANT

Mayor Clawson opened the public hearing at 6:34 p.m. Assistant to the Manager Jim Byrne presented the following information:

The South Fork of the New River located in Boone, NC has been impaired the past three decades resultant from increased development in the watershed , and large storm events that have caused river instability including streambank failure and lateral migration of river channels. Streambank erosion, common throughout the river reach project, is caused by an increase in peak discharges, channel realignment, removal of riparian vegetation, and loss of floodplain. A variety of river restoration techniques will be considered to address the severely eroding and failing riverbanks and degraded habitat. The project would be a partnership of Appalachian State University (ASU), The Town of Boone, and the National Committee for the New River (NCNR). NCNR would provide technical assistance and coordinate the project on behalf of all partners. The Town of Boone would be the sponsor. The US Army Corps of Engineers completed a detailed Project Report and Environmental Assessment in 2009 and is ready to go forward when funding is secured. The study was conducted under the authority USACE Section 206, Aquatic Ecosystem Restoration, of the Water Resources Development Act (WRDA) of 1996, as amended, Public Law 104-3030.

The proposed aquatic restoration project is being proposed in the Town of Boone, Watauga County, North Carolina, along 4,000- feet of the South Fork of the New River, a National Heritage River. The proposed restoration work is located adjacent to the recreational property of the Appalachian State University and Town of Boone on the east side of Boone. The estimated project cost is $2.375 million, $1.485 million of that being Federal dollars; and the other coming from the non-federal sponsor. The sponsor's (Town of Boone) is responsible for a contribution of $890,000 to the project. The town is applying for a $600,000 CDBG grant to be used toward the local grant match.

Without this project, the processes of destabilization and degradation are expected to continue within the reach of the South Fork of the New River, resulting in increased economic costs and additional environmental degradation.

There was no one present to speak during this public hearing. Mayor Clawson closed the public hearing at 6:37 p.m.
